NOTE AND COMMENT.

It is not often that a judge on the bench denounces a jury in so strong terms as did Judge Neff in Cleveland, O., last Monday. The jury had acquitted a woman of complicity in the death of her husband, when the judge thought the evidence was clear against her, and this is the way he went for the jury: "A weak and sentimental jury has made the public proclamation that murder committed by a woman is no crime in this country." The judge is evidently a full believer in woman's rights, with all the term implies.

During the campaign for and against woman suffrage, it was argued that women, if granted the ballot, would not avail themselves of the opportunity to vote, but the attendance of women at the annual school meetings in Meredith would seem to dispute the argument as far as Meredith is concerned. Thursday night a majority of those present were ladies, and the business was dispatched without a hitch. Moreover, quietness prevailed and a general feeling of good humor was apparent.

There is no end to the queer things that the Czar is doing. One of his last acts is to take strong measures to prevent the Finns from emigrating from Finland, which was threatening to depopulate that country, so that now, in order to leave their native land, the Finns must smuggle themselves out of the country.

This state's quota of garden seeds from the congressional delegation has begun to arrive and will be distributed within three weeks. There will be received in the vicinity of 75,000 packages of these seeds.

A Portfolio of Rare Views.

Thirty-three magnificent reproductions of photographic views of various scenes along the Fitchburg Division of the Boston & Maine Railroad is what the new portfolio consists of. The delightful panoramic scenery of the Hoosac Country and Deerfield Valley, the dashing waterfalls and towering mountains are all aptly portrayed in this new addition to the Boston & Maine's Art Library. This book is entitled "The Charles River to the Hudson," and will be mailed to any address upon receipt of six cents in stamps by the General Passenger Department, Boston & Maine Railroad, Boston. The complete set, consisting of the other five portfolios and this new one, will be mailed upon receipt of thirty-six cents.

About $10 was realized.

"Better Health" Now the Cry.

Druggist Sanborn Advises the Thin and Sick to Use Mi-o-na and be Plump and Well.

Judging from the advertising columns of leading magazines and newspapers there is a wave of physical culture and health food habit sweeping the country. Better health is the cry of the times.

Look into the faces of the men and women we meet in the streets of Meredith and see how large a proportion are thin, have drawn lines of care, and are wrinkled and haggard before their time. What these people need, says Druggist Sanborn, is Mi-o-na, a flesh-forming food and restorer of health and strength to the digestive organs.

If you feel unhappy and cast down, if your food fails to digest; if your skin is sallow; if you are losing flesh; if your eyes lack brightness; if you feel dull and week be sensible and use Mi-o-na. It will aid the food to digest; it will strengthen the digestive organs; it will build up the vitality; it will restore good, firm healthy flesh, filling in the outlines and restoring pleasing plumpness and symmetry.

Mi-o-na has been so uniformly successful in curing all diseases caused by weakness of the digestive organs, that Druggist Sanborn is selling it under his positive guarantee to refund the money if it does not give satisfaction. A guarantee like this speaks volumes for the merit of Mi-o-na. No one can afford to suffer longer, or be thin and weak, now that there is a chance like this to obtain a reliable remedy that costs nothing unless it restores health and strength.

Old and New Way.

Hyomei the Latest Scientific Discovery for the Cure of Catarrh.

The discovery of Hyomei has wrought a wonderful change in the treatment of catarrh.

Prior to three years ago the medicines ordinarily employed in the cure of this disease were nauseating drugs and worthless tonics. In some instances they benefitted, but the improvement was not lasting.

With Hyomei you take into the air passages of the throat and head a balsamic air that goes to the minutest cells, effectually killing all germs and microbes of catarrh. It enters the blood with the oxygen, killing the germs in the blood, and restores health to the whole system. Many astonishing testimonials have been received from those who have been cured by Hyomei.

N. G. Durham, 23 Wellington St., Boston, Mass., writes: "I have suffered from catarrh for a number of years. I tried Hyomei and found it the only cure for the disease I ever used."

Perhaps the strongest evidence that can be given to doubters is the fact that Geo. F. Sanborn has so much faith in Hyomei that he sells every package under a positive guarantee to refund the money if it does not cure.

Now is the time to begin the use of Hyomei.

Col. G. C. Gilmore, Manchester, has in his possession the original ballot which he cast for Lincoln in 1864.

NOTE AND COMMENT.

Rhode Island seems to be anxious to compete with Delaware in the success with which the latter auctions off her suffrage to the highest bidder.

The harmony in the ranks of the Democratic party is appalling. If it continues the authorities will be obliged to put all presidential candidates, past and present, under bonds to keep the peace.

Much is said and written about the large number of Americans who visit Europe each year, but a glance at the Washington hotel registers reveals the fact that a surprisingly large number of Europeans visit this country annually.

Mr. Lloyd Griscom, United States Minister to Japan, has just presented to the State Department a facsimile of the original emancipation proclamation signed by Lincoln, the original of which is supposed to have been destroyed in the great Chicago fire.

The Laconia Democrat comments thusly in regard to the license bill: "As we stated before, nearly all of the provisions and restrictions are excellent, but the bill will be a disappointment to many as it can hardly be fairly classed as a local option measure, and bids fair to breed political corruption, unless some of the saints from heaven can be induced to come down into New Hampshire and accept positions on the commission.

The statement is often made that there is no slavery in the Philippines. Doubt is thrown on this, however. This state of things is said to actually exist in our new possessions on the other side of the earth: A poor Filipino gets into debt and borrows money from a rich neighbor and pays his debt and thenceforth becomes the slave of the rich neighbor until the debt is paid, and if the poor man dies before the debt is paid some of his family is held in bondage for the debt, and if anyone else pays the debt he may become owner of these slaves. It is said to be a fact that well-to-do Filipinos frequently own from 50 to 500 slaves. There are several things that need correcting in the Philippines and this is clearly one of them.

Speaker Cheney created a stir last week when he choked off Dan Remich, New Hampshire's liveliest crank, but all fair-minded men will applaud his action. Dan dearly loves to hear Remich talk, regardless of the feelings of those within ear-shot. If allowed to do so he would have spouted all summer, and in the end would have said and done nothing that would have benchtted the state.

GIFT TO JAS. FRENCH

Elegant Cut Glass Punch Bowl Presented by Railroad Committee.

Concord, March 26.—Representative James E. French, chairman of the committee on railroads, was given a very pleasant surprise by the members of his committee immediately after recess of the House this noon. There was no regular meeting of the committee on the books today, but Mr. French was informed that somebody desired to see him at the committee rooms, so he hurried over, and when he got there, was somewhat surprised to see the members of the committee and one or two invited guests lined up around the rooms. While he was thinking it over, Representative Chas. S. Bussell of Nashua stepped forward and presented Mr. French with an elegant cut-glass punch bowl and elaborate silver stand in behalf of the members of the committee, who desired in that way to express their appreciation of Mr. French's efficent services as chairman of the committee and for the aid and many courtesies he had extended to them.

Mr. French, having been caught when he wasn't looking, which is something that doesn't happen to him every day, didn't have any set speech handy, but he had no difficulty in making the members of the committee know that he appreciated their action.

Nervousness and Nerve.

The more nervous a man is the less nerve he has. That sounds paradoxical—but it isn't; for nerve is stamina.

Hood's Sarsaparilla gives nerve. It tones the whole system, perfects digestion and assimilation, and is therefore the best medicine a nervous person can take.

The First Methodist church, Concord, has unanimously invited Rev. Joseph Simpson to continue as pastor of that church for another year.

To Border Line of Life and Death.

Neuralgia of Heart, Weak Stomach.

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure Cured Her.

Neuralgia of the heart causes sudden death. It is an acute affection of the cardiac nerve, just as neuralgia is of the nerves of the face, usually, and sciatics is of the nerve trunk of the thigh. One of its most frequent symptoms is derangement of the stomach and liver. Strengthen the heart's action and enrich the blood with Dr. Miles' Heart Cure; tone up the nerves with Restorative Nervine and you will soon be cured.

"Nervous exhaustion and liver trouble so affected my wife's health that she was greatly run down; neuralgia of the heart set in and for a long time she was very close to the border line of life and death. She was attended by two good physicians, who did all they could for her, but in spite of everything she grew worse right along. One day I saw an advertisement of Dr. Miles' Nervine and New Heart Cure, and the doctor's explanation of the effects of nervous trouble upon the heart seemed so logical that I decided to give the remedies a trial. We now know that the stomach and liver troubles were the best of the heart weakness. She improved wonderfully at once. Her appetite picked up, the sleep set in, and right along the pain around her heart rapidly disappeared. Thanks to Dr. Miles' Heart Cure in a few weeks she was able to be up and attend to her household duties, and in a few months every sign of Miles' Heart Cure and Restorative Nervine disappeared." —JAMES B. SIDLEY, Torrington, Conn.

Items Gleaned from Various Sources

Curiosity leads us to desire to know what that liquor bill would look like with all the amendments Dan Remich had and has in mind upon it. Several Philadelphia lawyers would have to be imported to exploit it and even then the chances are it would be about as clear as mud. However, the Press admires Mr. Remich as a persistent fighter.—Nashua Press.

Robbed the Grave.

A startling incident is narrated by John Oliver of Philadelphia, as follows: "I was in an awful condition. My skin was almost yellow, eyes sunken, tongue coated, pain continually in back and sides, no appetite, growing weaker day by day. Three physicians had given me up. Then I was advised to use Electric Bitters; to my great joy, the first bottle made a decided improvement. I continued their use for three weeks, and am now a well man. I know they robbed the grave of another victim." No one should fail to try them. Only 50 cents. Guaranteed at C. W. Morrison's drug store.

Good For Children.

It draws out the inflammation, heals and soothes and cures permanently by enabling the lungs to contribute pure life-giving and life sustaining oxygen to the blood and tissues.

Young Plants

Every farmer knows that some plants grow better than others. Soil may be the same and seed may seem the same but some plants are weak and others strong.

And that's the way with children. They are like young plants. Same food, same home, same care but some grow big and strong while others stay small and weak.

Scott's Emulsion offers an easy way out of the difficulty. Child weakness often means starvation, not because of lack of food, but because the food does not feed.

Scott's Emulsion really feeds and gives the child growing strength.

Whatever the cause of weakness and failure to grow—Scott's Emulsion seems to find it and set the matter right.

Kidney Disease Kills.

Its Victims Numbered by the Hundreds of Thousands.

Kidney diseases should be attended to at once, for almost 90 per cent. of our unexpected deaths of to-day are from that cause. Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy is the only sure cure known for diseases of the kidneys, liver, bladder and blood, rheumatism, dyspepsia and chronic constipation. It is marvelous how it stops that pain in the back, relieves the necessity of urinating so often at night, drives away that scalding pain in passing water, corrects the bad effects of whiskey and beer and shows its beneficial effects on the system in an incredibly short time.

George L. Smith, foreman of the Holley Manufacturing Company's Works, Lockport, N. Y., says in a recent letter:

"I have used Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy with the most beneficial results. I was troubled with gravel and kidney complaint very severely, it bothered me a great deal, and have found great relief from its use, and cheerfully recommend it."

"Favorite Remedy" is the most successful medicine ever discovered for kidney, bladder, liver and blood diseases. Its record of cures has made it famous in medical circles everywhere. It is recognized as a specific. It purifies the blood and dissolves the excess of uric acid in it, clears up the urine, restores the kidneys and bladder to their normal condition, and gently moves the bowels.

A MIDNIGHT TRAGEDY.

Farmer Roused from Sleep by Maniac Wife to a Struggle for Life or Death.

Stealthily hiding a large kitchen knife in the folds of her nightdress, Mrs. Otis Finhart, wife of a farmer living two miles northwest of Grand Meadow, Minn., retired to bed the other night. In the middle of the night the woman suddenly attacked her husband. She hacked his neck with vicious blows, while he struggled in a frenzy of fear to overpower her.

She clung to him with furious strength, but his efforts were effectual in diverting the blows she aimed at him. Suddenly wrenching himself free, he sprang from the bed, snatched up their two children, and dashed out of the house into the snowstorm, attired only in his nightdress. The children were likewise thinly clad. Finhart, stung by the cold and fearful for his little ones, ran barefooted through the storm and the snow to a neighbor's house, a quarter of a mile away. There he left the children and was given some clothes.

Refusing any attention for himself, he started back home, the blood still running from the gashes on his neck and his feet and hands numb with the frost. When he came within sight of the house it was in flames. Mrs. Finhart had set fire to the structure in several places, and the blaze was spreading rapidly.

Dashing into the fire, Finhart sought to rescue the crazed woman. He could not penetrate far and was forced to retreat. The house was destroyed.

Then he saw his wife on the road, making her way, wailing and moaning, toward the home of Chris Nelson, about half a mile distant. Finhart ran after her and found that she was fearfully burned.

Her fit of insanity seemed to have passed and she was taken to the house where her children were. She will die. Besides being badly burned, her feet were frozen. Ill health is said to be the cause of her mental collapse. The Finharts are well to do and respected in the community.

LAID TRAP FOR HENS.

Inordinate Fondness for Chickens Cost a Wolf, Which Had Been a Pet, His Life.

Jim Sturdevant, of Steam Hollow, Pa., walked into the county commissioner's office recently with a wolf's skin, claimed the bounty and told this remarkable tale:

The wolf, captured in Potter county, when a cub, had been raised in his home and was as tame as a dog. But he had one evil habit, he was fond of chickens, and would devour the farmer's poultry.

When the wolf's food was given him he would scatter it about him, and then lie down with his head on his paw, feigning sleep. Soon the hens would surround him to eat his food. Woe to the one that came within reach of his paw! She was devoured in a minute.

For this crime the wolf was condemned to die. Sturdevant fired a charge of shot at the beast, but only wounded him, and he ran to the woods. The farmer and his two sons followed the animal two miles and shot him again. He crawled into a thicket, and the hunters, thinking he was dead, went home.

The next morning the wolf came to the kitchen door when the family were at breakfast, and scratched for admission. The farmer's son was delighted. He and the wolf were great friends, and together they had a happy time all day.

Sturdevant resolved to spare the wolf for the boy's sake, but the very next morning the beast set his trap for chickens and devoured two. Then he was filled with lead and the bounty claimed on his head.

CAT HUNTS LIKE DOG.

Tom Has a Keen Scent and Will Even Go Into the Water to Retrieve Game.

A cat that delights in the chase, a cat that "points" and retrieves, is the latest curiosity to cross the path of the wondering sportsmen of Chester, N. J.

Michael Kenney, gardener on the old Denis estate near Chester, is the owner of Tom, and he it was who discovered and developed pussy's talent for the chase. Tom since his kitten days has been the companion of his master, following him in his rambles over the countryside when permitted to do so. Kenney is an enthusiastic huntsman, and it happened that Tom, the cat, was allowed to follow the man behind the gun on a hunting expedition early in the present season.

Kenney had not been out long until he became aware that Tom was manifesting a keen interest in proceedings. Finally when Kenney brought down a pheasant, the big spotted cat leaped from cover, and seizing the bird neatly by the neck, brought him to his master and laid him down. No trained dog ever performed a neater bit of retrieving.

Kennedy proceeded, then, to develop Tom's talent, until to-day the cat is an adept in all the arts of the chase. He points superbly, and in following a scent he displays an instinct equaled by few dogs.

Kenney recently shot a bird that fell into a pond. Knowing the natural aversion of cats to water, he expected nothing of Tom on that occasion. But Tom seems to have abandoned much of the feline sophistry. Into the water he leaped, and in a trice the bird was at the feet of the gunner, while a very wet cat was industriously engaged in making his toilet on a sunny log.

Philadelphia huntsmen who have gone out to see this wonderful cat agree that his services equal those of any dog. Kenney has been offered fancy prices for the cat, but he declares that the kind of money that will part him from Tom has not yet been coined.

A Willville Romance.

"I'o prove that I love you," wrote a Georgia swain to his sweetheart, "I'm about to drink carbolic acid for you, an' carbolic acid is the most painfullest of drinks!"

To which the young woman replied briefly, and with much sympathy:

"Bet you hain't already done drinked it, an' yer mind is made up, why don't you come up to the house an' let dad's mule kick you? It's more sudden, an' what's more, you'd never know it."—Atlanta Constitution.

Now Why Did They Smile?

"Yes, my hands are soft," said a conceited fellow the other night in a small company, as he admiringly looked at those useless appendages that had never done a day's work. "Do you know, how I do it?" he exclaimed, proudly. "I wear gloves on my hands every night to sleep in."

"Do you sleep with your hat on, also?" asked a pert young woman. And the young fellow replied in the negative, and looked wonderingly because the company smiled.—Tit-Bits.

GENUINE OLD MAMMY

As Vigorous at 83 as Most People Are at 50.

Still Works in the Field, and as a Laundress Aunt Rachel Lay Recognizes No Superior in Old Kentucky.

To be 83 years old and the mother of 24 children is to be somewhat distinguished from other women, but when, in addition to this, one is as vigorous as most people are at 50 and can do a day's work that would tax a man, there is something of the remarkable in the case.

This is the claim that Aunt Rachel Lay, living on one of the Kentucky farms, in Mercer county, has for public attention. In her own phrase, she "came mighty near being a Christmas tree," for her eighty-third birthday was on December 23, 1902. Aunt Rachel is a genuine "befo' de wah" darky, and she has a decided contempt for the people who are so "ne count" these days. She is as upright as one of the forest trees that shade the little cabin which she helped Uncle Lay to build.

There never was a richer, clearer chocolate hue than her healthy skin shows, and the only sign of age to be seen, says the Cincinnati Commercial, is the gray of her wool.

If anyone desires to know just how things were done before the civil war, he has only to get Aunt Rachel started, and she will make a graphic account of her own experience. She was born in Lincoln county and was taken from her mother at the age of 11, when she was hired out as a nurse girl. She had charge of two tiny babies both of whom are dead, and after this became a house girl.

She saw two of her brothers sold, and then came the time when she herself was sold. This was according to her own decision, for the question came up of going away from her Kentucky home to a new one in Texas, where her master and mistress were to locate, and they asked the girl if she would go. Texas seemed a long way off to the little colored girl, and she said she would not go unless one of her brothers could go. This being impossible, Rachel said she would rather be sold. She was placed on the block in Lawrenceburg, Ky. To-day she has no bitter recollection of that proceeding; indeed, she is very proud of the fact that she was sold for $1,000. She became the property of a Mr. Bell.

Here is where Rachel found life troublesome. It appears from her story that Mrs. Bell decided that Rachel should stay in every Sunday evening and let the other negroes have an outing. Aunt Rachel felt this to be unfair. The other darkies told her just to go out certain Sundays, anyway. So she began to get ready to do this one evening.

Mrs. Bell, coming into the kitchen and realizing what she was doing, commanded her to stay. "I didn't want no trouble," says Aunt Rachel, with a sly smile, "so I just said: 'Yes'm,' and went on getting ready, and after awhile I was gone."

It was the coming back that was exciting. Mrs. Bell came into the kitchen and said: "I am going to whip you." Aunt Rachel just said: "I don't want to hit no white person, but you ain't goin' to whip me." The mistress then thought it about time for some interference, and said she would have her sons attend to Rachel. However, Rachel had about the same answer ready, "No'm, I don't want to hit the boys, but no white man or woman has ever laid a hand on me and I ain't a goin' to stand it. My old master said for me never to let anyone hit me, and they can't."

The end of it was that doughty Aunt Rachel was not whipped. Aunt Rachel has been married three times, and twice the courting was done while she was a slave. Her first husband belonged to another family, and the two only met at long intervals, and even after they were married they were separated for many years. Twenty-four children names have called Aunt Rachel "mammy," but all are dead except four. None of the children are as strong as the mother, who has split rails, plowed in the fields, planted corn and cut wood. Even now she works much harder than the younger generation, taking in great washings and wringing the heavy pieces with an energetic swing of the arm and a flirt of the water as was the style in the other days. Aunt Rachel does not care for new-fangled contrivances in laundry work, just a plain washboard and hand wringer is all she needs.

EAGLE PARALYZED CITY.

Stopped the Entire Street Railway and Light Systems of Los Angeles for Some Time.

A bald eagle paralyzed the entire street railway and electric light systems of Los Angeles, Cal., last week, stopping the traffic for hours, closing factories and furnishing active employment for a half a hundred men.

The singular achievement cost the bird its life but not its beauty, and secured for its remains a place of honor on a pedestal in the office of the San Gabriel Light and Power company.

The company furnishes the several street car lines and electric light companies with electric fluid for power.

The "juice" is generated in San Gabriel canyon—a wild, rugged and lonely gash in the mountainside 13 miles from Los Angeles. Down this canyon rushes a mad torrent of waters, the gathering together of several mountain streams. It is this angry river which has been harnessed to turn up the power for the San Gabriel company, and it was in this lonely canyon that the eagle worked his mischief.

Having seized an unsuspecting gopher, the kingly bird flew up to the crosspiece of one of the wire-carrying poles and proceeded to enjoy his meal. In settling down upon his perch one of his wings rested upon one of the wires to his right and the other wing overlapped the wire on his left. The result was a short circuit which sent the entire force of the powerful current through his body, producing instant death. The mischief was not so quickly over, however, for the short circuit remained and the current refused to travel to the city. Consequently cars stopped running, lights went out and consternation reigned.

Fifty men were hurried out along the lines to discover the source of all the trouble, but three or four hours elapsed before his eagleship was discovered.

NEW MEXICAN JAILER.

He Has a Talent for Painting Which He Turns to a Most Extraordinary Use.

A well-known Pittsburger, just returned from New Mexico, describes a visit to the jail of a border county which, through the kindness of the warden, he was permitted to make during his tour of the country. He said that in one end of the cell department were large pictures of McKinley and Roosevelt, with letters six inches deep explaining who they were, and underneath the picture of McKinley were his memorable last words. The two pictures were easily recognizable, and the visitor was much surprised when the warden told him he had painted them himself. He was more surprised when he made a tour of the cell tiers, says the Pittsburg Gazette.

Over the door of each cell was painted a motto, as "What is home without a mother?" "I am happy as the day is long," "A hot time in the old town to-night," and others too numerous to mention. The Pittsburger was puzzled at first to know the meaning of all this placarding, but the jailer explained, as he had to paint the jail himself once every year, to add spice to the work and lend a little more coloring to the interior of the otherwise barren and plain white walls, he thought of the motto scheme. The selection was wide enough to suit any taste. Titles of popular songs were seen over the doorways to cells containing prisoners whose appearance was totally at variance with the idea conveyed. For purposes of harmony with the surroundings, some of the titles of songs are appropriately modified, for instance: "Home Ain't Nothing Like This" is made into "Home Ain't Nothing Like This—My Wife's There," over a cell into which during the course of a year numerous drunks find refuge until they are fit to dangle again in their home circles.

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Don't Know it.

How To Find Out.

Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; if it stains your linen it is evidence of kidney trouble; too frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

What to Do.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to get often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in 50c. and $1. sizes.

You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful discovery, Swamp-Root, and a book that tells more about it, both sent absolutely free by mail, address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper.

Arthur W. Denison is winning considerable fame in Boston as a composer of music. The Boston Globe says: "The Pi Eta society of Harvard is fortunate this year in that the same two men who last year wrote the bright book and lyrics and beautiful music of "Queen Phillippine," which was up to that time the most successful and best play that the society has ever given, have furnished the book and the music for this year's show, "Prince Punjab." Both are members of the class of 1903. The composer of the music, Arthur W. Denison, also of the class of 1903, is already well known to people of this vicinity for he lives in Cambridge and has long been prominent in Cambridge and Boston society. His experience in light opera dates from 1896, when he took a leading part in "The Prince of Cairo," given that year with much success in Brattle hall, Cambridge, by the Cambridge Latin school. The next year he attended a preparatory school in Connecticut, and while there composed an original opera, called "A Tropical Delusion." In his sophomore year at Harvard he sang in the Pi Eta play, "The Viking," and last year the catchy music he wrote for 'Queen Philippine' caused favorable comment everywhere. Mr. Denison's style of composition is especially well adapted for light opera, for he not only introduces many beautiful passages, but the whole composition has the snap and life that is just what is needed to make such an opera popular. Mr. Denison is a son of Mr. A. E. Denison, the well-known Boston lawyer, who has a beautiful summer residence in Meredith.

Letter to Frank Nickerson, Meredith, N. H.

Dear Sir: We hear you're doing a good business, and we know already, without you're telling us that you use good paint and do good work. We've got a big business too—been at it 149 years—making good paint, best paint in the world, Devoe Lead and sic.

"Fewer gallons and wears longer"—that's the reason in short. It takes fewer gallons of Devoe Lead and Zinc than of mixed paints to cover a house, and it wears longer than lead and oil or any mixed paint.

Smith & Wilber, Cambridge Springs, Pa., write:

One of our painters says Devoe is the best paint for a painter to use when taking work by the job, as it goes farther and covers better than any paint he ever used.

Here's the experience everybody has with it. The dealer who sells Devoe gets the bulk of the paint business of the town. The painter who paints Devoe gets the painting of his town.

Yours truly,
F. W. DEVOE & Co.,
New York.

Charles A. Otis, who was in the employ of "Jack" Livingstone in Meredith, last year, was drowned in Winnipesaukee River, Laconia, Monday afternoon. Otis was going down the steps leading from the Main St. bridge to M. J. Guay's restaurant, when he lost his balance and fell into the river. The current is very swift at this point, running about ten miles an hour. According to eye witnesses the man appeared to be under the influence of liquor at the time of the accident. Otis was a board sawyer by trade. His home was at Strafford Bow Lake, where his mother lives. He had a wife in Lakeport, but he had not lived with her for the last three years. He was about 37 years of age. His employer, Mr. Pike, speaks very highly of him as a workman venturing the opinion that Otis was one of the best board sawyers in this section, if not in the state. Quite recently he had sawed 11,000 feet of boards in five hours. Whatever may have been his condition at the time of his death, Mr. Pike declares that the man paid strict attention to business while at work.

SUDDEN DEATH OF FRED W. TOWLE

Meredith was profoundly agitated Friday morning when the news spread like wildfire that Fred W. Towle, a member of the firm of Pease & Towle, had dropped dead while in the act of dressing.

It was almost impossible to realize that Mr. Towle was no more. The previous evening he attended the annual school meeting and was apparently in the best of health. In fact he was in more than usual good spirits. After the meeting, on his way to his room, he met several acquaintances and they all agree that he was in a happy frame of mind.

Shortly before seven, Friday morning, Mr. Towle arose and descended the stairs at the residence of Mrs. Alvin Peavey, where he had resided for several years, and procured a pitcher of hot water. A few minutes later an inmate of the house heard him groan and informed Mrs. Peavey, who hurried to his room. She found him lying across the bed, stone dead.

The sad news was received with widespread regret.

Mr. Towle was born in Meredith 43 years ago, and was educated in the public schools here. About 20 years ago he entered into partnership with Frank B. Pease, in the grocery business. The death of Mr. Towle will be severely felt. He probably did more to attract summer visitors to this picturesque town than any other person in the community. He was part owner of a commodioms cottage, "New Point Comfort," and was persistent in his efforts to induce visitors to spend the summer months in Meredith.

He is survived by two brothers, John C. and Charles, both residents of Nebraska. He was never married.

Deceased had been for many years one of Meredith's most prominent and progressive citizens. He was a director of the Meredith Village Savings Bank, the principal stockholder of the Meredith Creamery Co., a director of the Meredith Telephone Co. In politics he was a staunch Republican and contributed much to the success of the party in local politics, being one of the hardest workers in the ranks. He represented Meredith in the Legislature in 1894. He was a member of Winnipesaukee Grange and took an active part in the affairs of the order.

By the death of Mr. Towle the NEWS loses a good friend. He believed in printer's ink, and more, he had faith in the NEWS. He was confident that this paper was helpful to the town and his business and he patronized it liberally year in and year out.

The funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon, at the North Church, the Rev. G. I. Bard, officiating. The reverend gentleman was overcome by emotion several times during his eloquent discourse, and there were very few dry eyes in the audience, which filled the church to overflowing. The members of Winnipesaukee Grange attended in a body, each member bearing a small bouquet, which was cast into the grave at the conclusion of the ceremony at the cemetery.

The floral offerings were numerous, testifying to the high esteem in which the deceased was held. Many representative men of the county were present, and vocal music was furnished by the Apollo Quartette, of Laconia. The bearers were: W. H. Neal, Frank W. Smith, Jay Ward, E. Carlton Mansfield, Fred H. Smith, Dudley Lenvitt and Fred W. Weeks. Messrs. B. Blaisdell and James Burleigh officiated as ushers.

Every business place in town was closed from 1 to 4 p. m., and a feeling of sadness and gloom prevailed.

Mr. Towle will be greatly missed. He was progressive, active, intelligent and persistent. He loved Meredith and labored indefatigably in the interests of the town. The NEWS extends its heartfelt sympathy to the surviving relatives and friends.

The Problem of a Tired Mother.

The funny papers have told, time and again, how it makes a man feel to be shut up alone with the children even for a few hours.

It's no wonder that nerve troubles attack the mother for she has the children all the time. How can she help being nervous, especially while the little ones are making such constant drafts on her energy?

No woman can endure the strain of her housework and two or three little ones unless her digestive powers are of an unusual order. She can't manufacture force enough to stand the strain.

We can suggest one thing that will surely help her and it isn't a drug poison either. It is Vinol, made by a remarkable new process from that wonderful remedy, cod liver oil, a true tonic.

Money back if you don't find this true.
